Mr. J. Weinman, senior member of the wholesale clothing house of J. Weinman & Co., New York City, of which our young friend Mr. Stuart Hirschman is a member, is visiting Mr. S. Hirschman in this place. Mr. Weinman is not only on pleasure bent, but has an eye to business, and if favorably impressed with our town will make considerable investments before his departure.—Advocate.

Mr. J. F. Reininger returned last week from a visit to his son in New York. Whilst there he called upon our former townsman Mr. E. Brown, and reports him doing finely—playing concert music, giving instruction upon the guitar and violin, &c., with handsome returns. We are pleased to hear that our old friend is doing well, and that the people of the great metropolis have such a high appreciation of his well-known musical talent.

For bargains in Summer Dress Goods come to HIRSCHMAN'S.

On Saturday last, July 4th, about four o'clock in the afternoon, JENNIE KEYS AMBLER, wife of John A. Washington, Esq., departed this life after a severe illness of many months duration.

To say that here was a Christian character would barely do justice to her pure and guileless life. The record of such a character should be fully elaborated, that the soft influence of its virtue and grace may be more widespread.

She was a Christian in its loftiest sense, a woman of the highest and most exalted type. Endowed with a strong mind. She also possessed that finest of nature's gifts, a heart whose only limit for love was measured by the wide extent of human calamity. As in health she was lovely and beloved, so in sickness she was considerate, patient and resigned. In her death was exhibited the grandeur of the christian's hope and the glory of the christian's life.

Tell me not that death has conquered. Such a life as hers, departed, is true the grave has claimed her. Leaving loved ones broken-hearted.

But for lives, so full of beauty. Spirits rare and pure as hers. 'Tis not death, but only resting, Resting 'til the morn appears.

Such a life was hers, that virtues seemed to blossom where she came; Full of love and kind compassion, Earnest, honest, free from blame.

As the stars are flowers of heaven, So she was a flower of earth. And tho' culled, perhaps too early, Memory garners all its worth.

Garners what will teach the living How divine a life may be. How sincere and true and tender, How from all but virtue free.

Flavoring Extracts—Vanilla, Lemon, Strawberry, Pineapple and other flavors, prepared by LIGHT & WATSON, Druggists.

Mr. Arthur Nash, a brakeman on the B. & O., and formerly of Harper's Ferry, was killed at Mt. Airy last week, by the breaking of a chain.

Geo. H. Hagley has taken the agency for the Philadelphia Watch Case Company, and will keep a supply of their gold-filled watch cases and movements of different makers. All guaranteed.

We noticed large lots of iron pipe being conveyed to the N. & W. station last week, and on enquiry learned that they were from the Shenandoah Brass and Iron Works of this place, and were for shipment to Roanoke.

Independence Day was observed in Charleston by the closing of the banks and partial closing of the post office, a moderate combustion of fire crackers and pyrotechnics, and music in the evening by the Charleston Cornet Band.

GREAT BARGAINS IN SUITS.—A compulsory sale of Gents' Fine Suits by one of New York's largest manufacturers, has put some 500 Suits in our stock at 50 cts. on the dollar, and we offer them to you at the same great bargain price. Come early, before they are all gone.

Wm. KAHN, Sadler Bldg., Clothier, Furnisher and Hatter.

Notice to Farmers.

On and after September 1st, 1891, there will be needed at the A. D. Goetz Harness, Collar and Fly-Net Factory at least one hundred tons of fair-threshed Rye Straw annually, for which (if first-class article) as high as ten dollars ($10.00) per ton, cash, can be paid.

Call on or address, after above date, A. D. Goetz, Charles Town, W. Va.

Rev. Dallas Tucker and five other persons narrowly escaped serious injury last Sunday afternoon. They were returning from service at the Episcopal mountain mission on the east side of the Shenandoah, when, whilst coming down the mountain, the breaching of the harness of Mr. Tucker's horse gave away. Mr. T. jumped out to stop the animal, when he fell and was dragged a short distance by the lines, being severely bruised. Fortunately for him, the lines became detached, and the horse, with Misses Kate Riddle, Bessie Green and Katie Aisquith in the vehicle, ran on down the mountain, overtaking a buggy in which were Mr. T. C. Green and wife. This vehicle was struck and overturned, and its occupants thrown out. At the same time Mr. Tucker's horse became detached from his vehicle. Mr. Green's horse, fortunately, did not run. Hence no one of the party was seriously injured, though doubtless much alarmed, and certainly for a while in great danger.

Under the above mentioned name the old "Porter's Factory" which in days gone by enjoyed almost a national reputation for excellent manufactures, is still operated by the undersigned. Necessary repairs have been made and improved machinery introduced, and I will continue to maintain the reputation of the mill and to meet the demand of the public for first-class goods.

The Highest Market Price will be paid for Wool delivered at the Mill or at such points as may be designated.

Orders for Cloth, Yarns, &c., will receive prompt attention.

Respectfully, JNO. J. JOBE.

The West Virginia University advertisement appears in this issue.—This institution of learning has an able corps of professors, and is gradually rising in popular favor. We commend it to our county people, and hope to see it well patronized.

Clifton, the five-year-old son of Mr. B. W. Alder, while playing see-saw with some children on Friday last, fell off the end of the board on which he was sitting, breaking his left arm between the elbow and wrist. Dr. Bishop rendered the necessary surgical aid, and the little fellow is doing as well as could be expected.

We invite attention to the advertisement of Stephenson Female Seminary, in this issue. This excellent institution of learning stands deservedly high, and merits a continued generous support. Parents or guardians from abroad may safely trust pupils to the kind christian care of the well-known principal and his efficient corps of assistants.

The spirit of progress is abroad on the C. M. & I. Co. addition. A good portion of the Hotel Powhatan is under roof; the Goetz Harness Factory building has reached the third story; the office building of the C. M. & I. Co. and business buildings of the Construction Co. are making good progress; the Butler Works under roof; the six Construction Co. dwellings completed; several of the ten Improvement Co. cottages completed, and remainder nearing completion. The Construction Co. is also erecting a fine ten-room brick dwelling on Fourth avenue, between George and Mildred streets.—Both brickyard and saw busy places, and Dr. Simmons and his force are pushing the Belt Line Railroad toward completion.
